Abstract

In this thesis, we have discussed " a signal processing mathematical model analysis based on channelization of sub-band filter banks " , we obtain some results by using a mathematical analysis and functional analysis, like the sequence is pre Hilbert space, we found a relation between the input signal and output signal then use Z-transform to input signal and output signal.